MANY OPPORTUNITIES FOR MEMBERS
“What can I do for you?” That is usually part of my greeting when I answer the phone, and this quarter in the Leagueline it is our theme; What we do for you, our members.

The AIA is taking a serious look at how it communicates with the members and the public on a national level, and here at the Architects League, we are doing the same thing locally. In this issue we will be presenting information on the services we provide and where to find information specific to architects and relevant to our practices.

Over the course of the year, the Architects League holds monthly dinner meetings free to the members. At the meetings we try to provide good food, good conversation and some educational content. If you attend regularly, thanks! If you have not attended, I would encourage you to attend at least one meeting this year, or the upcoming trade show, or perhaps the golf outing, and meet some of your fellow members. Another reason for attending a meeting is to ask questions. If we don’t have the answers, we will reach out to the State AIA or National. There is strength in numbers and by attending meetings and asking questions we can get the message of what is important to us out to a broader audience.

To that end several members on the Board of Trustees and myself attended Grassroots 2017, an AIA national event in Washington, DC focused on the AIA’s impact on national and regional projects and legislation initiatives. Our representatives need to know what is important to us and our profession. The donations we make to ArchiPAC, the AIA’s Political Action Committee, enable us to lobby for legislation nationally and locally. The legislation needs to make sense for the health, safety, and welfare of the public who interact with architecture daily, as well as our profession.

So, by becoming a more active member, you can make your voice heard and develop a more robust network within the profession.

I am looking forward to seeing you at one of our meetings. Please read through this issue and see what else we can do for you.

All the Best,

Tom Haggerty, AIA
ALNNJ President 2017
As we enter another year in the history of the Architects League of Northern New Jersey, we would like to take this opportunity to explore the structure of our organization and all of the committees and functions we have for the benefit of our members. Over the past few years some of these committees have been updated, in response to the re-organization of the AIA as a whole, and to reflect the changes to our profession, be they technological or societal.

Recently the AIA published a position paper, with seven key values that we as an organization stand for. In brief, they are:

- We Stand for Equity and Human Rights
- We Stand for Architecture that Strengthens Our Communities
- We Stand for a Sustainable Future
- We Stand for Protecting Communities from the Impact of Climate Change
- We Stand for Economic Opportunity
- We Stand for Investing in the Future
- We Speak Up, and Policymakers Listen

The full paper can be found at: https://www.aia.org/resources/50766-where-architects-stand-a-statement-of-our-values

Our chapter’s greatest strength is the involvement of its members. We hope that with an understanding of all that we do, you will find a committee or group that interests you and to which you want to contribute. Welcome, join in, get involved.

Todd M. Hause, AIA
Editor, Leagueline 2Q 2017
ARThUR DAVIS LECTuRE SERIES
Ralph Rosenberg  rosenberg@nkarchitects.com

Arrange a speaker of notable importance in the profession or on a topic of notable architectural importance, designating this event as unique from the typical monthly programs held during the year.

SPECIAL TOURS
Fay Logan  flogan@sns-arch-eng.com

Throughout the year special tours are arranged that League members and their guests are invited to attend. The tours are of architecturally significant spaces, both historical and contemporary. They often offer behind the scenes access providing members with a wealth of information that is rarely shared to the public.

In recent years, the League has started organizing international trips for its members. So far, groups have visited Cuba and Turkey. Your input on the choice of destinations is always encouraged.

TED KESSLER WALKING TOURS
Joseph David  joe@kcg-arch.com

In 2017, the ALNNJ’s Ted Kessler Walking Tours celebrate their tenth anniversary. The annual tours began in Fall 2007 as a tribute to Ted Kessler, a long time Architects League member who is remembered for his generosity to the profession. He was well known for leading students and others on walking tours throughout Manhattan and the Ted Kessler Walking Tours remain a tribute to his memory and legacy. Every Fall, the ALNNJ premieres a thoroughly researched new route and tour, which is then repeated the following Spring. Past tour routes have included sites in Lower Manhattan, Manhattanville, Morningside Heights, Greenwich Village, Roosevelt Island, Central Park and Midtown. The tours feature stories about iconic landmarks, hidden gems, historic buildings, recent construction and proposed projects. The Spring 2017 tour route covers Herald Square, Penn Station, the West Chelsea Historic District and Hudson Yards, one of the most rapidly changing areas in the city.

CONTINUING EDUCATION
Bryan Pennington  penningtonb@nkarchitects.com

The Architects League of Northern New Jersey is an authorized provider of AIA CES. Coordinate with Programs Committee and Program Providers to obtain the Learning objectives of the programs, and determine the AIA CES value for the program to meet the standard for Continuing Education Units, including Health, Safety and Welfare units, if applicable, for AIA CES approvals. Upon completion of the Program, attendees of ALNNJ are entered and recorded at AIA website.

TRADE SHOW
Fay Logan  flogan@sns-arch-eng.com

Work jointly with AIA Newark & Suburban to sponsor the annual show. Contact all vendors from the previous year early in the year to inform them of the currently planned trade show which is traditionally held in May. All trustees and officers are responsible to make vendors who call on their offices aware of the trade show.

GOLF OUTING
Terry Durden  tdurden@studio43d.com

Organize the annual July golf outing. This includes, selecting the venue, establishing a date, time, and budget, meeting with graphic designer to establish a theme, print and mail/email notices, establish new vendor contacts and maintain mailing list, follow-up with vendors, set-up and confirm an insurance contract, get graphics from participating vendors for printing, purchase AIA golf balls and door prizes, send all sponsor names to sign manufacturer, put together a “golfer’s bag” that is distributed to each player, establish foursomes and fax all pertinent information to golf club, and oversee all day-of-event activities.

INSTALLATION DINNER
Bryan Pennington  penningtonb@nkarchitects.com

Chairperson is to be immediate Past President. Review budget allowed by board, investigate and arrange for dinner location as early as possible in the year, (it has been customary for the board to choose a date in January to avoid conflicts with holiday activities and to obtain lower dinner costs), and secure arrangements for the event. Arrange for outgoing president’s plaque and the incoming president’s gavel, both appropriately inscribed.

LEAGUELINE
Fay Logan  flogan@sns-arch-eng.com

Leagueline, the official publication of ALNNJ, is a high-quality newsletter distributed quarterly to approximately 500 members of the local architectural community. It typically features in-depth articles on matters pertinent to architects and the profession in addition to reporting the League events of the past quarter. The newsletter also includes a calendar of recommendations and upcoming events, both within and outside of the AIA, that are of interest to both architects and allied professionals. The Leagueline Committee meets quarterly, typically in Englewood, and is always seeking volunteers and ideas for the next issue. The Leagueline is funded in large part through advertising revenue. Firms interested in advertising should contact Fay Logan, AIA at flogan@sns-arch.eng.com or visit ALNNJ.org for additional information.

WEBSITE
Paul Bryan  pbryan@warwick.net

The website administrator is responsible for updating and maintaining the ALNNJ.org website to make sure information is current and consistent with the policies of the local, state, and national AIA components. Website sponsors are welcomed at a cost of $200 per year. Sponsors receive their company listing on our home page including an active link to their website. Firms interested in sponsoring should contact Paul.
SCHOLARSHIPS

Joseph David
Jo@kcg-arch.com

Each year, scholarship letters and application forms are mailed to NAAB accredited architecture schools located throughout the U.S., as well as all high schools in the League’s territory. The committee then receives and reviews the applicant submissions and makes recommendations of award to the Board of Trustees. Once recipients have been selected, each is notified and invited, along with their parents, to attend the Scholarship Award Ceremony that is held during the June membership meeting. The Chairperson prepares individual award certificates for each recipient and presents them during the Award Ceremony. The Chairperson also coordinates distribution of the monetary award with the Treasurer so that payment is made directly to the recipient’s school. Arrangements are made for the announcement of the scholarships with the Public Relations and Leagueline Committees.

SPONSORSHIPS

Ruth Bussacco
gbussacco@aol.com

The Sponsorship Coordinator is responsible for soliciting participants for the League’s annual Sponsorship Initiative, and works directly with committee chairpersons to coordinate sponsorship benefits.

EMERGING PROFESSIONALS / YOUNG ARCHITECTS FORUM

Kurt Vierheilig
kurtv@dmrarchitects.com

Act as liaison to the AIA-NJ committee in developing programs, which recognize the accomplishments of younger architects who have been licensed less than 10 years. Assist associate members develop skills and knowledge in the fulfillment of AXP requirements, the licensing exam, and the profession in general. This committee is an indispensable mentorship tool to our younger members. The intern development, young architects and membership committees coordinate common goals regarding developing the need for AIA membership among exam candidates and young architects in the League.

EPIc

Matt Fink
matt.fink@lan-nj.com

AIA NJ’s newest component, the Emerging Professionals Community, or EPIC for short, strives to be the source of information, education, networking, and community service for the emerging professionals within the architecture profession. Emerging professionals (EP’s) are defined as college students obtaining their Bachelor of Architecture degree, Associate AIA members, ARE candidates and licensed architects up to ten years. EPIC has both a state and section component with “At-Large Directors” serving at the state level for Education, Community and Advocacy while “Section Directors” work closely with each of the six New Jersey AIA sections to create events for the EP’s and enrich their AIA membership.

Seen as an introduction to the AIA, its events, and its resources, EPIC provides many similar activities geared towards the EP’s. Events such as the annual Mini Golf Outing, pairs EP’s with others their age, AIA members, and architectural vendors to forge relationships that will last throughout their profession. Other events such as the brewery tours, wine and paint events, buildings tours, or bowling nights, aim to create a different kind of networking and socialization. Moving forward, EPIC is creating local advocacy events to help mold young leaders and their communities. The organization will also provide resources to tackle the ARE’s as well as collegiate events to introduce EP’s to the architectural work environment.

At this time, EPIC is searching for a new Section Director for the Architects League of Northern New Jersey. If you are interested, email us at epic@aia-nj.org and check us out at www.epic-aia-nj.weebly.com and on social media.

LEAGUE ARCHIVIST

Paul Bryan
psbryan@warwick.net

The League Archivist is responsible for the storage and maintenance of the League’s historical record. Upon completion of the Secretary’s term, records and memorabilia pertinent to the history of ALNNJ are added to the archive. Although there are some gaps in the record, the League has meeting minutes, correspondence, newsletters, promotional materials and photos dating back to our founding in 1928. Any members with items they would like to donate to the ALNNJ Archives are urged to contact Paul.

BYLAWS AND COMMITTEE HANDBOOK

Chris Dougherty
chrisdougherty55@aol.com

Our organization is the third tier of a larger one, the AIA. We fall under National’s then the State’s regulations. Our bylaws need to concur with their bylaws. As well, our bylaws need to clearly spell out our structure and key responsibilities. The Handbook outlines the policies and ethics of the League. This document elaborates on the duties of the officers, trustees and the Committee Members. This document is more fluid than the bylaws and is reviewed annually to respond to the changing responsibilities and services we as a group provide to our members. It is recommended that each member take a few minutes to peruse these two documents to learn more about what we volunteer to do each year.

---

PUBLIC AFFAIRS/ PUBLIC RELATIONS

William Martin
wjmarchitect@aol.com

The Public Affairs/Public Relations Committee works to heighten public awareness of the profession in several ways. The primary tool used is generating news releases regarding various events and member achievements throughout the state. The Public Relations Director also serves as the League’s representative on the AIA-NJ committee, and as a point of contact for various local news and media organizations seeking our input on stories and issues related to architecture and construction.

---

EMAIL BLASTS

Paul Bryan
psbryan@warwick.net

The email coordinator organizes the primary means of communication between the organization and the membership, whether it be monthly meeting announcements, special events, continuing education opportunities, or news pertinent to the profession.

---

SOCIAL MEDIA

Matt Fink
matt.fink@lan-nj.com

Maintains the social media accounts for the league which includes the “big three,” Linkedin, Twitter, and Facebook. The American Institute of Architects embraces the use of social media to advance conversations about the architecture profession. These conversations enhance the institute’s goals of serving as an authoritative source and credible voice for the architecture profession.

The committee is responsible for developing and implementing the League’s Social Media Program as well as responding to input from our members and the public.

AWARDS
Bryan Pennington  penningtonb@nkarchitects.com

Select winners for Trustee and Vegliante award for the installation dinner. Vegliante award to be given to a League member who has distinguished themselves with the League and in the architectural profession, and their accomplishments merit the award. Vegliante past award winners are invited by this committee to help in the selection of a winner. The award does not have to be presented every year and can be awarded to the same individual more than once. The trustee award is a statement of recognition to one or more League members whose contributions to the profession in the past year have been outstanding. There is no limit on the number of trustee awards, but three are customary. The award can be presented to the same individual more than once.

MEMBERSHIP AND DUES
Terry Durden  tdurden@studio43d.com

Greet new members as they attend their first meeting. Check attendees at meeting against list of those delinquent in dues or recently terminated. Develop programs to seek new members and set a membership goal for the year. AIA-NJ maintains the membership list for the League as it presently collects League dues.

HOSPITALITY
Ruth Bussacco  gbussacco@aol.com

Contact members for personal occasions. Send a sympathy card to the immediate family upon the death of a member. In the event of a death of the immediate family of an officer or trustee, or a member who has been extraordinarily active, make a charitable donation. The amount of the donation shall be determined by the board and made payable to the charity selected by the family. Send a card of congratulations and nominal gift to an officer or trustee in the event of the birth of a child. Send a suitable gift and get well wishes to an officer or trustee recovering from a major illness.

NOMINATIONS
Bryan Pennington  penningtonb@nkarchitects.com

Meet with committee chairpersons to find members active in League committee work. Contact prospective nominees to see if they are willing to serve. Make nomination report to President and the Board at the October board and regular meetings. If needed, arrange for printing of ballots for election at the annual meeting in November. Members of the nominating committee should be individuals not likely to be nominated for any available office.

LONG RANGE PLANNING
Joseph David  joe@kcg-arch.com

President-elect to chair, president, first vice president and immediate past president are the members of this committee. Develop plans for maintaining and getting new members, plan future activities, goals, and overall direction of the League, and along with the Treasurer, plan the budget for the coming year.

SUSTAINABLE DESIGN / COMMITTEE ON THE ENVIRONMENT
Todd Hause  toddhause@earthlink.net

The AIA is highly committed to sustainable design and resiliency. Two of the seven points described in the AIA’s recent position statement speak to these values. The Committee on the Environment (COTE) works to advance, disseminate, and advocate—to the profession, the building industry, the academy, and the public—design practices that integrate built and natural systems and enhance both the design quality and environmental performance of the built environment. COTE serves as the community and voice on behalf of AIA architects regarding sustainable design and building science and performance. COTE reflects the profession’s commitment to provide healthy and safe environments for people and is dedicated to preserving the earth’s capability of sustaining a shared high quality of life. The committee’s mission is to lead and coordinate the profession’s involvement in environmental and energy-related issues and to promote the role of the architect as a leader in preserving and protecting the planet and its living systems. COTE provides the AIA with knowledge about environmental issues and advises the Institute on environmental policy matters affecting the practice of architecture. The committee supports cooperation with educators and institutions of learning, manufacturers, government agencies, environmental organizations, and industry groups in advancing environmentally sound design processes and standards as well as environmentally innovative materials and integrated systems.

WOMEN IN ARCHITECTURE
Ruth Bussacco  gbussacco@aol.com

The committee’s focus is to provide an environment for women architects and allied professionals to enhance their professional development, networking and leadership skills. The committee provides a forum for discussions and events related to supporting women design professionals.
ALNNJ Scholarship Deadline: May 8, 2017

The Scholarship Committee of the Architects League of Northern New Jersey is requesting your assistance so it may grant scholarships to deserving high school students, and undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in or accepted to an NAAB Accredited Architecture Program, and whose permanent residence (or high school, for high school seniors) is in Bergen, Hudson, Passaic or Sussex County in New Jersey. We ask that you please share this information with eligible students. Eligibility requirements and scholarship applications are available for download at http://alnnj.org/wordpress/scholarships/. Scholarship amounts vary at the discretion of the Scholarship Committee. This year’s total scholarship fund is in the amount of $8,000, which can be directed towards the following scholarships at the discretion of the Board of Trustees:

- Clarence Tabor Memorial Scholarship Award. Given to undergraduate students entering their fifth and final year of Architecture, and is based on scholastic excellence, attitude toward the profession, probable success as an architect, and need for financial assistance.
- Albert O. Halse Memorial Award. Given to undergraduate students for excellence in architectural delineation and/or architectural models.
- Architects League Scholaristic Achievement Award. Given to graduate and undergraduate students for scholastic excellence in architectural design.
- High School Senior Architectural Scholarship: Given to a high school senior who lives or attends high school in Bergen, Hudson, Passaic or Sussex County and has been accepted to an NAAB Accredited Architectural Program at a college in the United States or U.S. Territory.

Deadline: All applications and submittal requirements must be postmarked or hand delivered no later than 5 PM on May 8, 2017. Submissions meeting the postmark deadline, but not received by May 11, 2017 will not be considered. The award certificates will be presented in June 2017 at the monthly meeting of the Architects League. We invite those receiving scholarships to attend with their families.

The Architects League of Northern New Jersey Scholarships are funded jointly through our fundraising efforts and the AIA Component Scholarship Grant, which in 2016 provided $1,000 toward these scholarships.

Update: NJ Building Code and Lightweight-Framed Construction

On February 4, a massive fire started in a complex of multifamily residential buildings that were under construction in Maplewood, destroying approximately two-thirds of it. The buildings were constructed of lightweight wood framing; and the complex is owned by AvalonBay, the owner of a very similar complex in Edgewater that was partly destroyed by a fire two years ago.

That earlier blaze engendered calls from some state lawmakers to require various updates to the building code for additional safety measures for multifamily residential buildings constructed using lightweight framing, or banning its use in such buildings altogether. At the time, the Architects League dedicated an issue of the Leagueline to the topic. The issue can be found at: http://alnnj.org/wordpress/wp-content/uploads/2015/03/L20-2015-web.pdf

The fire in Edgewater also prompted AIA-NJ to form a Taskforce on Light-weight Construction, which published a white paper on the subject for the benefit of those lawmakers who were faced with the task of deciding what code changes should be implemented, and under what timeline. The white paper can be found at: http://aia-nj-2168621.hs-sites.com/aia-nj-building-design-with-lightweight-framed-construction-and-the-health-safety-and-welfare-of-the-public

While it is too soon to know what impact the fire in Maplewood will have on New Jersey’s building codes, there have already been renewed calls for action on the part of the legislature. The Taskforce will continue to bring the voice of the Architectural community to the discussion.

Update: ALNNJ

Ben P. Lee, AIA NJ President

AIA National has gone through a transformation of the National Board and Strategic Council, AIA NJ is going through similar transitions of reducing size of the Board and Re-alignment of our committees to focus on our strategic goals. In order for AIA to be successful, It is important have fundamental alignment of National, State and Sections; so the entire AIA organization shares common Core Values and Goals for our Profession.

One of the major forces for collaboration between AIA NJ State and all the sections including ALNNJ is the requirements of the Core Member Services. The Core Member Services was created to reassure the fundamental services are uniformly delivered to all the members. Therefore the understanding of the strength and weakness between the State and Sections are important. The Sections are at the grassroots level to deliver continuing education and program events at local levels; while the State has the resources to deliver L&GA, PA and Membership Services. Below is a matrix of services delivered by the State and Sections:

ADVOCACY VALUE STATEMENT

AIA New Jersey (AIANJ) is more important than ever as our country is going through transitions. Our profession has been respected by all because of our values and our commitment to improve the built environment. It is important for us to represent our membership to support and defend these values.

AIA National has released the 2017 Statement of our Values, AIA NJ is united in support of the national statement:

Value Statement

In it we state our priorities:

- We stand for equity and human rights,
- We stand for architecture that strengthens our communities,
- We stand for a sustainable future,
- We stand for protecting communities from the impact of climate change,
- We stand for economic opportunity,
- We stand for investing in the future, and
- We speak up, and policymakers listen.

Read more at AIA.org

AIA New Jersey

AIA NJ has our professional values that echoes the AIA National statement. As licensed Architects we are all working to advance the quality of life in the built environment and protect the health, safety and welfare of the public. We also have our values formulated through the efforts of our PROFESSIONAL Committees. The following are the values and programs specifically developed by AIA NJ:

- Sustainable Environment
- Resiliency
- Health & Wellness
- Historic Resources
- Homeland Security
- Diversity & Women in Architecture

As we set our ADVOCACY agenda and priorities for 2017, the above values statement for AIA and AIA NJ are the most important issues for our MEMBERS.

Therefore, it is important that the Communication, Public Awareness, Legislative & Government Affairs and Membership committees are all working toward the same goals.

Ben P. Lee,
AIA NJ President
In 2017, the League’s annual installation event was combined with AIA-NJ for the joint Inaugural and Awards Gala held on January 14, at the Sheraton Mahwah. The event celebrated incoming Presidents Ben P. Lee, AIA, and Thomas Haggerty, AIA, outgoing Presidents Justin A. Mihalik, AIA, and Bryan Pennington, AIA, as well as the Boards of both components. The event also included ceremonies for the ALNNJ Trustees and Vegliante Awards, the AIA-NJ Distinguished Service Awards, and the AIA-NJ Design Awards.

This year, ALNNJ Trustees Awards were presented to Joseph E. David, AIA, Matthew A Fink, AIA, and Todd M. Hause, AIA. The Vegliante Award, the League’s highest accolade, was awarded to R. Terry Durden, AIA, who could not attend the event, but was presented the award at the League’s February meeting.

The event featured live music by Moxie which added to the festivities!

Information on the AIA New Jersey Awards may be found at: http://blog.aia-nj.org/2017/01/18/inauguration-and-awards-gala-2017/

February Members Meeting
Bergen Arches

The League’s February 16 meeting was held at Factory 220, a revitalized industrial-turned-event space in Passaic. During the meeting the Green Villain organization presented its vision for the Bergen Arches, the common name for the Erie Railroad’s mile-long, four-track cut through the Palisades in Jersey City. With focus on preservation and adaptive reuse, the team proposes site-specific landscape and architectural interventions to create a new public park and walkway, a place to promote local artists and boost Jersey City’s overall cultural reputation.

March Meeting
Micro Living

The New Micro Living, a presentation on Carmel Place by nARCHITECTS, was held during the March 16 ALNNJ meeting at Maggiano’s in Hackensack. The project was the winning design for former New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg’s 2013 adAPT NYC competition. Carmel Place opened last year and set new standards as a prototype for micro living. The competition tasked firms with responding to the city’s growing small-household population as part of the Bloomberg administration’s New Housing Marketplace Plan, which aimed to bring new options to the city’s housing market.

We are pleased to announce that the stars are finally aligning after 30 years. The news is Axis Architectural Group has been born. Ken Schier, Piero Gabucci and Steven Lazarus are the proud partners in creating the new firm.
